How donations can be used

Donations can help buy books, laptops, tablets, calculators, stationery, school bags, sport gear, activity materials, internet data plans, fuel support, excursion costs and camp contributions.

Learning access

Some students need basic tools before they can fully participate: a calculator, reading books, a tablet, a laptop for assignments, or internet access at home. Donations help remove those quiet barriers.

Activities and extra-curricular experiences

Funding can help students join sport, creative activities, leadership workshops, excursions, camps, university visits and community experiences that build confidence and belonging.

Dignity and practical support

Araya aims to support students in a way that protects dignity. Donations help students participate without feeling singled out or left behind.

General program support

General donations give Araya flexibility to respond quickly when a student, class or activity has an urgent practical need.
